Ol Pejeta on Nat Geo Wild

Don't miss out...

The Ol Pejeta Conservancy is set to feature in Ultimate Africa, a 10-episode series following safari adventurer Jean Du Plessis. Jean explores big-game trophy hunting and anti-poaching efforts as conservation strategies in Africa. Ultimate Africa premieres this Monday 3rd August on the National Geographic Wild channel UK at 6 pm GMT. The Ol Pejeta Conservancy features in two of the episodes, Rhinos of Ol Pejeta, scheduled to air on Thursday 6th August at 6 pm, and Fugitives of Laikipia scheduled for Tuesday 11th August at 6 pm.

In Rhinos of Ol Pejeta, Jean joins in a thrilling operation to translocate seven endangered black rhinos, in which he goes off in search of Millennium, a female rhino who went missing during the exercise and was feared to have been attacked by lions! In Fugitives of Laikipia, Jean returns to Ol Pejeta where management are trying to deal with problem elephants that use their tusks to break through electrified fences and raid local villagers' crops.

Don't miss this exciting opportunity to get an insight into some of the operations involved in conservation efforts on Ol Pejeta and others such reserves in Africa.

Notes to Editor

A spectacular private sanctuary, the Ol Pejeta Conservancy boasts an astounding variety of animals, including the Big Five. It is the largest black rhino sanctuary in East Africa, and home to 43 orphaned chimpanzees at the Sweetwaters Chimpanzee Sanctuary. The reserve, which offers guests accommodation options at the Serena managed Sweetwaters tented Camp and the Ol Pejeta House has long been the preferred retreat of wilderness and safari lovers alike.
