

WILDLIFE SIGHTINGS – May 2026

As winter sets in, we see a gradual rise in water levels as the annual floodwaters from Angola work their way down through the Delta. This, in turn, forces the plains game away from the marsh areas and onto islands of dry land.

The area south of Wild Dog Pan and the plains between APU and Patrol camp have come alive with wildlife.

GOMOTI PLAINS CAMP

CLASSIC SAFARIS
BOTSWANA

Est. 2012

GOMOTI PLAINS CAMP

CLASSIC SAFARIS
BOTSWANA

Est. 2012

GOMOTI PLAINS CAMP

CLASSIC SAFARIS
BOTSWANA

Est. 2012

Noteworthy wildlife activity included:

- We had a return guest who booked a private vehicle for three days; his mission was to see Wild Dogs. On day two, Olly managed to find the Dogs in the morning. We packed a lunch basket, and Olly and the guest spent the entire day with the dogs. It was awesome to see such a satisfied guest 😊
- We had a rather sad incident of two Elephants dying of what was determined to be natural causes. These were not far from Camp and brought a hive of activity both day and night.
- We had set up an afternoon sundowner at Wild Dog Pan while the Field Guides were desperately trying to locate sightings. While we were waiting, four wild dogs came trotting out of the blue towards the sundowner. We called the sighting, and in no time, we had guests sipping on sundowners in sight of wild dogs.

- Our Chettah mum has successfully given birth to four cubs; sadly, only two are left. Happy to report that the two are doing well.

Kind Regards,

STEVEN MAVROMATIS
General Manager Gomoti Camp

E : steven@machabasafaris.com
M : +27 82786 4597
For more information visit machabasafaris.com