

Paarl is the Pearl of the Cape Winelands. This hidden gem, tucked away in the scenic Drakenstein Valley just 40 minutes from Cape Town, offers a less touristy, more laid back alternative to the vineyards of Franschhoek or Stellenbosch. Paarl is the third oldest settlement in South Africa with a rich cultural and historical heritage – and there is no better place to soak it all up than at the Grande Roche Hotel, a graceful Cape colonial styled hotel surrounded by the fruit trees and vineyards of this working farm. The hotel has an award winning restaurant Bosman's, the Bistro Allegro, 2 heated swimming pools, a historical chapel, tennis courts and offers private wine tastings with their resident Sommelier.
