

Interesting Interiors at Majeka House

Etienne Hanekom is a South African based interior designer who creates warm and inviting spaces that connect and contribute positively to their environments. He and his team have worked on bars, restaurants and boutique hotels such as Majeka House.

When Hanekom was commissioned to design the interiors of the hotel he was determined to incorporate the owners love of ceiling art in his designs. Known for his love of birds and animals he introduced the Moooi Pig Table created by Front in 2006, which keeps faithfully to the true size of a pig. This friendly pig greets all guests to Majeka House on arrival into the lobby!

The Flamingo Pool Suite, named after the striking yet simple design on one of the room's walls, is one of the hotel's individually designed pool suites. The flamingo is an indicative yet fun nod to the shared pool outside.

Majeka House was voted best design hotel by Condé Nast Johansen's in 2017 due to the incredible interiors and stylish design of the hotel.
